

COCKWELLS

CAREERS

Yard foreman

Responsibilities and Duties

You will be responsible for:

- All boat movements. This includes moving boats to moorings for customers, towing boats and carrying out tasks for customers on their moorings as required.
- Liaising with clients, reception and accounts for lay-up bookings
- All machine movements including telehandler and forklift operations.
- Boat and machine maintenance (with assistance from the Engineering team where needed).
- Buildings maintenance.
- General tidiness in the yard.

The Yard Foreman will also be responsible for ensuring they have enough labour to cover all the above duties. This will be achieved by liaising with the General Manager and the Engineering Manager.

Additional Work

The yard foreman might be expected, from time to time, to carry out additional small jobs on boats in the yard. The work could range from antifouling to small engineering works, small wood working tasks and general boat maintenance.

The person will also be responsible for training up banksmen and mentor the staff in order for there to be cover when the Yard Foreman is absent.

Company Budget

The Yard Foreman would be expected to attend monthly financial meetings with the company board. They will be responsible for their own budget. One of the key responsibilities will be ensuring that they manage to cover their cost by generating income ie. jobs carried out by this person and or this persons team generate enough income to cover their cost and produce a modest profit.

Working hours

The Yard Foreman would need to be able to work flexibly, working around the tides as required. They may also be required to work on a weekend, in lieu of this, a day off during the week would be given.
